

The place which used to be my HOME

Bulearcă Patricia Maria

There is a place I call “home” because of beautiful scenery, quiet moments and relaxing time with friends and family. Unfortunately, this place has become a place where people throw away garbage, even the water is polluted and the birds cannot find a good place for resting and the fish cannot swim among all the objects in the water. If we start by taking actions, we will succeed in having a clean environment.

This little duck tries to swim among plastic bottles and trash

As you can see these birds try to share the food running from the trash

Their little house was destroyed by the plastic that was thrown on land
