

Why is it important to recycle?

Creața Ana-Maria

The world is divided into two types of people: some of them recycle and care about our environment's health and some of them pollute so they contribute to the sickness of the environment.

Unfortunately, a lot of people avoid recycling even if they know that this is not something good.

From now on we should think seriously about the good of our planet because if we continue to pollute not only that the environment gets sick, but we and all that lives on it gets sick too.

The dam is useful for the hydrographic energy of the world

There is garbage everywhere you look

Garbage surrounds the dam
